

nest

To those you love, give roots and wings

Every spring, I see tiny nests being built in the apple tree in our back-yard. The birds search for anything that will build a secure home for their tiny hatchlings – sticks, straw and feathers. We make “nests” in much the same way, looking for the comfortable and the beautiful, those things that nurture our souls and make a house into a home. Nest celebrates that instinct... the blues are restful shades while the greens signify new life. The taupes and creams have just a touch of pink for variety and warmth. These are the things we use to decorate our homes, to create our nests.
