Let us lay in the sun and count every beautiful thing we can see.

A summer breeze is blowing through your hair as you cruise in a Studebaker to Lake Kiamesha. While you sing along to the Four Seasons, bungalow life and a summer fling are only moments away.

With my latest collection, I'm taking you back to a 1960's glitz and glamour getaway in the Catskills. You will find cheerful prints with sailboats, sunshine, fish and pineapples. One of my designs includes a hidden peace sign, representing a plea for peace then and now. Let's see if you can find it!

The Kiamesha collection includes five rayon prints perfect for summer garments. A palette of blue, teal and coral will make gorgeous accessories and quilts for the season. As the selvage says, "Let us lay in the sun and count every beautiful thing we can see."
